Heart Campaign Names Leaders

Charles H. Cremens, 64 Mt. Vernon st., and William C. McCarty, M.D., will serve together as Advance Gifts chairman for the 1961 Heart Fund in Arlington, it was announced today by Robert Campobasso, the community's general chairman.

This is Mr. Cremens' sixth year of service with Arlington's Heart Fund campaign. Director of Health and Safety Education and the Fletcher School in Cambridge, he is a member of the Cambridge Teachers Club and the National Educational Association.

Dr. McCarty, who shares the Arlington Advanced Gifts chairmanship, is chief of staff and chief of the Medical Division at Symmes Arlington Hospital.

"We are happy to accept this responsibility," the chairman said in a joint statement, "because it is of prime importance to every family here, and we know our people are eager to do their share to help conquer heart disease."

As Advance Gifts chairman, Mr. Cremens and Dr. McCarty will spearhead the opening stages of the February-long fund campaign here among civic, social and organization leaders.

"Cardiovascular disease is the foremost health problem facing us; it reaches into the lives of the whole community, it accounts for more than half of all our deaths. All-out support of vital research, education and community service programs is our answer. Through the Massachusetts and American Heart Association, we have our opportunity to continue and expand programs that already have saved thousands of lives."

The entire community will participate in the campaign on Heart Sunday, February 26, when a house-to-house canvass will be made by Heart Neighbors.

March Of Dimes Ready To Begin

Hope by the bagful is being shouldered by Massachusetts mailers this week as they set forth on their appointed rounds, first giant step in the 1961 New March of Dimes campaign.

Local postmen have begun delivery of the March of Dimes Mailers to be used by Massachusetts residents for their contributions to the annual appeal of The National Foundation during January.

"We send this message of hope for thousands of polio sufferers and victims of arthritis and crippling birth defects, confident that Massachusetts will respond," said the National Foundation.

Prompt Payment Of Town Taxes Draws Plaudits

Town Treasurer-Collector Francis A. Coughlin reported this week that all 1959 and prior Real Estate, Personal Property, and Poll taxes had been settled before the close of business on December 31, 1960.

Coughlin noted further that the balance of 1960 taxes outstanding in those categories at that time was only $151,390.38 out of the $6,716,946.22 committed by the Board of Assessors — a collection percentage of 97.75% on current year's taxes.

"Arlington citizens may be proud of their consistent record of prompt payment of taxes. This record has always enabled the town to market its issues of municipal bonds and notes at a very favorable rate of interest," Coughlin concluded.

Accidents Claim Two Lives; Officer Manderino Injured

Warrant Closes Jan. 23 Locally

The 1961 Warrant was officially opened by the Board of Selectmen when they met last Tuesday night. They also voted to set the closing hour for the warrant at 7:15 on Monday, Jan. 23.

First night for Town Meeting is scheduled for Monday, March 20, and the Selectmen voted to continue the sequence of days as has been done in recent years, only Mondays and Wednesdays.

It was also the opinion of the Selectmen and the Town Manager that the Town Meeting be held at Town Hall as usual.

Town Manager Monahan pointed out that from every practical view point, it was best to hold the meetings in Town Hall. Once the hall is set up for the meetings, no one else uses the auditorium in the meantime, he said, and all Town records are immediately available if needed.

There has been some feeling that the seats, acoustics, lighting, and parking at Town Hall present some problems and the possibility of another location has been discussed unofficially in some quarters. Final decision in this matter belongs to the Town Moderator.

Training Passed By Whirly Pilot

Marine Helicopter pilot, Captain Robert J. Thompson, USMCR, 12 Gardner st., completed five days of active duty for training at the U.S. Naval Air Station, South Weymouth, last week.

As a Marine Air Reservist, Captain Thompson serves with Marine Helicopter Transport Squadron 771 based at South Weymouth.

In addition to training with his squadron one weekend each month and attending a two-week training period during the summer, Captain Thompson, along with other pilots, attend periodic active duty for training periods in order to maintain pilot proficiency.

Following completion of flight training at Pensacola, Fla., Captain Thompson was designated a naval aviator and commissioned a second lieutenant in December, 1954. After serving on active duty until December, 1958, he joined the Ready Reserve at NAS, South Weymouth.

Captain Thompson, a graduate of Wentworth Institute, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Thompson.

He resides with his parents at the Arlington address.

Two Arlington men were killed and a police officer seriously injured in separate automobile accidents - this week, dampening the holiday festivities throughout town.

Dead are David T. Lyons, Jr., 38, of 2 Heard rd.; and Waldo G. Edwards, 78, of 156 Scituate st.

Lyons, the father of three and a well known Arlington realtor, died Thursday morning when his car skidded out of control on Walden st., Cambridge, and smashed into a bridge abutment.

Edwards became Arlington's first traffic fatality of 1961 when he was struck by a car Tuesday morning while crossing the Concord Turnpike.

Arlington police officer Agostino Manderino, 112B Fremont st., was taken to Symmes hospital Friday morning where he was treated by Dr. McCarthy for back and hip injuries after an accident on Mystic st.

Arlington police reports state that Manderino was crossing Mystic st. from east to west, opposite 105 when the truck collided with him.

Meanwhile, a five and one-half year old girl, Mary Ann O'Reilly received a nose bleed and damage to her upper lip after an accident at the intersection of Broadway and Cleveland st., Thursday.

According to police a car operated by Robert J. O'Reilly, 8 Merrigan st., Arlington, traveling easterly on Broadway was in collision with a car operated by Homer Desfarge, 20 Shade st., Waltham, traveling westerly on Broadway and making a left turn into Cleveland st.

In another mishap, Robert Golden, York, Pa., received a cut on his nose in a three car collision on Lake st., New Year's Day.

The accident, according to local police took place when a car operated by Golden was in collision with a car owned by Abbie Fisher, Woburn. The force of the collision caused the Fisher car to collide with a car owned by Dale Bloedow, 24 Lake st.

State and County Taxes Town

As the year 1960 concludes, the Town has paid $197,805 more in assessments from State and County than it has received from slices of the tax pie.

This was revealed this week from figures compiled for the Advocate by P. J. Waterman, executive secretary of the Arlington Board of Assessors.

This overage represents about $2.70 on the tax rate, the Advocate estimates. Less than a decade ago, the Town used to receive tidy plus balances.

1960 Local Tax Bill Up 38 Million

State House Neglect of Local Problems Cited

"IT IS SO RUNNING!"

BRACKETT P.T.A.

Important changes in American schools have been receiving wide publicity in the press and on the air.

In line with this policy, the Brackett P.T.A. has planned a panel discussion for its January meeting. The subject: Current Trends in Elementary Education.

The panel will include:
Dr. Ira Iscoe, associate professor of child and clinical psychology at the University of Texas, is now engaged in research at Harvard Univ.

George J. Greenawalt, a former school administrator, who is at present a graduate student in the administrative career program at the Harvard School of Education.

Dr. Lawrence Anderson, assistant superintendent of the Arlington public schools, who has had extensive teaching and administrative experience prior to his Arlington appointment.

While legislators on Beacon Hill view with some satisfaction their balancing of the 1960-61 state budget without additional taxes, 241 city and town tax rates have reached new high ground. The total property tax bill for 1960 has risen by $38.2 million to almost $700 million, topping last year's $36 million rise but short of the $57 million increase in 1958.

In three years local tax bills have climbed by an incredible $131 million, or 23 per cent.

The current attitude at the State House belies its own responsibility for the local tax dilemma.

Cities and towns are responsible in dollar terms for some two-thirds of our state and local government services. Whatever money is not forthcoming from the State in financial grants and distributions must be raised locally. But State grants recently have not kept pace with local spending needs. Therefore a lion's share of the mounting local burden, much of it State-imposed, has fallen on the property tax except as the communities may have scratched about for a few extra dollars from fees and charges.

For all of this the Legislature is primarily responsible.

The price of generations of legislative neglect of local financial problems can be read in the 1960 tax rates shown on the following pages:—

● Seventeen local rates, compared with last year's nine, have passed the $100 level. Ten rates, compared with four last year, exceeded $110;

● The average of all local rates is about $69, up almost two and a half dollars;

● Rate increases in 241 cities and towns contrast with stationary rates in 52 and decreases in 58, many of the latter resulting from arbitrary increases in property valuations;

● In 41 towns, — one in eight — the rate increased by $10 or more.

That the long-term upward trend of the property tax cannot be passed off simply as the result of a growing population and a shrinking dollar is shown in the chart on this page. The per capita tax

Remember The Birds

Dr. Eric H. Hansen, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the Angell Memorial Animal Hospital, 180 Longwood Ave., Boston, reminds bird-lovers not to forget their feathered friends during the cold winter months.

Dr. Hansen suggests the setting up of a permanent base of supplies, such as a bird feeder or a particular feeding area so that the birds will become accustomed to finding food in a certain location.

A variety of food will sustain the birds during the winter. Dr. Hansen said, but most commonly used is commercial grain also sunflower seeds, bread crumbs and suet, the latter being hung from the branches of trees.

Placing a feeder near a window can offer many moments of diversion to children and other members of the family and by preserving the lives of our birds we can look forward to spring when they will again delight us with their beauty and song.

CADET PROMOTIONS

Cadet promotions in Northeastern University's Reserve Officers Training Corps have been announced by Colonel John D. Evans, Jr., professor of military tactics.

In their new posts the cadet officers will head the University's 2,800-man cadet brigade, the largest voluntary ROTC unit on a single campus in the United States.

Local students receiving promotions include John J. Grant, 155 Appleton st., captain; Robert B. Young, 71 Harlow st., captain.

shown here for a thirty-five year period in adjusted (1960) as well as actual dollars is for real estate taxes only.

It is plain that the 1960 rates conform closely to the longer trend and that there may be some truth in the observation: "The higher they get, the faster they rise."

The Federation has now in process as major study of the Massachusetts property tax. It is hoped to provide a blueprint for action in the more orderly application of this completely uncontrolled tax. This study will be the basis for a complete issue of Tax-Talk early in 1961.

Today On Beacon Hill

SOUTH STATION — The state utilities commission has approved the petition of the Boston Terminal Corporation to sell part of the South Station building. The New Haven and Boston and Albany railroads, owners of the property said they could cut operating expenses by selling off some of the property, cutting expenses of the New Haven $457,000 and the New York Central $163,000 annually.

COUNTIES — A bid to study the feasibility of eliminating county government in Massachusetts has been made by Rep. Thomas C. Wojtowski (D) of Pittsfield.

TV — A state television board to supervise all TV broadcasts in the state has been urged in legislation filed by Rep. Joseph M. O'Loughlin (D) of Boston with the three members to be named by the Governor to receive $20 per day while sitting.

LAUNDROMATS — Chester A. Robinson of Abington has filed a bill to allow automatic coin operated laundries to remain open Sundays and legal holidays.

LEGISLATIVE PAY — Atty Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. (D) has ruled that the initiative petition for a referendum vote to repeal the law which voted $1500 additional pay for members of the state legislature, is proper under the constitution and efforts will now be made to secure names enough to have the matter placed on the 1962 ballot.

STATE POLICE — Rep. Jeremiah J. Foley (D) of Northampton has filed a bill which would allow state police officers to appeal the decisions of departmental trial courts, taking the appeal to the district courts which would have authority to reinstate the officers and order payment of back pay.

BRIDGE — Construction of a $27,400,000 bridge to replace the present Fore River bridge between Quincy and Weymouth has been recommended by the state public works department to alleviate traffic congestion at the span. The present bridge with a 175 foot span would be replaced by a structure with a 400 foot span

Red & Gray Wins Two
To Keep Lead In GBI

A second period goal by John Shannon sent Arlington high school's hockey team out front to stay and avert what looked like a big G.B.I. upset, January 31.

Paul Donnelly iced the contest for the winners with a goal early in the final period. The victory, coupled with the upset defeat of Waltham by Rindge moved the locals out front by five points in the league.

Arlington's win the second in three days gave the team a 7-0 mark for the season compared to 4-2-1 record for second place Waltham.

Thursday, the locals romped to a 5-0 win over Newton, scoring two goals in each of the first two periods and adding another in the closing stanza.

Shaun Quinlan scored the first goal for Arlington at 5:10 of the opening period with Charlie Morgan picking up an assist on the play.

Peter Morse led the Rockets to an easy win over the Hawks with three goals.

Bob Carter and Roger Kelley also netted goals for the Rockets with Kelley getting an assist on Carter's goal.

Tom Fitzgerald scored the lone goal for the Hawks.

Bruins 4 — Red Wings 1

Bob Webb scored two goals and assisted on another as the Bruins whipped the Wings 4 to 1. Al Bowman was given assists on both of Webb's scores. Mark Davison and John Allesandrani also tallied for the Bruins. Bob Heavren tallied for the Wings assisted by Dave Portesi.

Canadiens 4 — Rangers 0

John Deveau's three goals were too much for the Rangers. Dick Russo opened the scoring on a great solo effort. Russo, Gordie Howell, and Ken Donovan gained assists on the goals.

Maple Leafs 2 — Maroons 0

In the best game of the morning the Leafs shaded the Maroons 2-0. With only three minutes left to play Ed Roman blasted in a beaut. Tom Peters added an insurance goal in the last minute. Fred Dolan assisted on both goals and Roman earned one on Peter's goal.

Mike Marchese made several sensational saves in the Leaf's net and was a strong factor in the victory.

"Yes, the U.S. is in bad shape. No other country is suffering political and economic troubles because of a surplus of food. No other country has traffic congestion because so many people own cars. In no other country is obesity, caused by plenty of everything and high living, one of the chief medical problems. Yes, it's a sad situation" — Eagle-A Topics.

This Union Fights For Automation

Automation, which had its origins in the Industrial Revolution of the 19th century, has grown to be one of the greatest challenges of our time as nations throughout the world race to provide consumer goods and to compete in world markets. Automation in industry, in business, in farming, has been a decisive factor in the economic development of America.

It continues, however, to be one of the most violently argued and feared issues of our day. Labor is afraid of it and labor's leaders are most often hostile to it.

It has helped to bring about such malpractices as featherbedding and strike after strike has been called to protest it. State and Federal legislators have been pressured by labor to halt automation.

Labor's fight against automation, however, is as futile as tilting at windmills, for automation is as inevitable as was the second machine which followed the first. With few exceptions, labor has been blind to the fact that automation does create new jobs and that it is virtually the only way in which the United States can hope to compete against cheap labor on the world market.

An exception to the generally stubborn and unenlightened view labor has taken toward automation is the stand taken by the Amalgamated Lithographers of America. This union, which can also point to 35 years of labor peace, is a shining example of forward thinking and a progressive attitude in industrial relations.

Most recently, Edward Swayduck, president of ALA Local 1, working with the cooperation of management in the lithographic industry, sponsored an hour television show in New York titled, "Will A Machine Take Your Job?"

This show explored automation in this particular industry and established that automation can improve production and create more jobs by increasing demand. It made such a hit it will now be shown by the union on local television stations throughout the nation.

Swayduck, who has long held that union strength must go hand in hand with strength in the industry, made labor history a few years ago when he offered $1 million in behalf of the ALA to be matched by employers for a fund to promote automation in the lithographic industry!

This policy has paid off in terms of higher wages and shorter hours of work while some other unions that still think they can make work by forcing employers to continue outmoded and unnecessary operations. Mr. Swayduck and the ALA have proven that technological progress can make more jobs and a greater prosperity all around. To prove the point, sales in the lithographic industry will exceed $1 billion this year.

Proof - - - It's A Man's World

It is always encouraging, we think, to greet a new year with a spirit of optimism and hopefulness; to find, in short, something to cheer about. As the problem-year of 1961 begins to unfold, we admit this is not easy, but through diligence we have unearthed a discovery so dazzling we impart it at some risk of disbelief.

Women - who have always been smarter than men in some respects - are now beginning to understand housework! It has taken us men a long time to bring this about. And if you doubt that the light is dawning, we would like to reveal the "five easy-to-keep New Year's resolutions about housekeeping" the gals are now excited about.

They are being advised:

1. to stage a "sit-down strike" and do their ironing and food preparation chores sitting down.
2. to keep cleaning kits in both kitchen and bathroom, instead of chasing back and forth, and reduce them to the three essentials - scouring powder, a pine-oil cleaner and a sponge for both scrubbing and mopping-up.
3. to enjoy the spring and fall and instead of taking the house apart for the seasonal cleaning uproar; do a thorough job on just one room every month.
4. to repeal Blue Monday by cutting out "washday", and whomping up a couple of machine loads two or three times a week.
5. to create a "25th hour" (out of the savings in the other 24, no doubt) in which to relax - preferably before the evening meal - by way of proving that old wheeze about "woman's work is never done" just ain't so. A hot bath, of course, is a recommended feature.

We know three confirmed bachelors. When we have occasion to visit their habitats, we are always amazed at immaculate yet homey condition. And these friends do not dwell in one, two or three-room apartments, either. One dwells in an old artistic, six-room house with gardens, trellises and shrubbery. The other two have spacious 6-room apartments (they can afford them, even with just a bit above average income!)

They work the usual 40-hour week; they prefer their own cooking; they wash their socks, underwear, dish towels, etc. and "farm out" their shirts and linens. Too, they do an enormous amount of entertaining. These gents have the art of housekeeping down to science that would make an electronic tube look like an old, two-strand light bulb.

Of course, no children - but there are frequent visits of nephews and nieces.

So there you are! The lady home-making experts are coming around to the general notions of efficiency and emancipation from an ingrained insistence on housekeeping-the-hard-way that we husbands have been advocating for years!

Still, if we are to enjoy the domestic bliss that should accompany this reform, it would be best to act surprised and resist the "I-told-you-so" urge.

Love Those Lessons

Sometimes we think it might be best to give up our struggle with the Age of Automation, and just sink gracefully into the occupation we have always most admired - that of beachcombing.

We should probably find, however, that this job isn't what it used to be, either. It would really be no surprise to learn that beachcombers must now have Geiger counters and walkie-talkies and put up for Social Security. There may even be a union.

But Youth, we are happy to say has no such misgivings. Rather, our youngsters are plunging ahead to conquer this new world, and with the aid of the newest concepts in education - the teaching machine and "scrambled" text books that pursue the same method - seem to be learning with greater eagerness than prevailed in our day.

Take these new "TutorTexts", for instance. Four subjects are now available - bridge, computer arithmetic, algebra and elementary electronics - with a number of others in preparation for spring release.

The TutorText idea was developed by the Western Design and Electronics Division of U.S. Industries as "teaching programs" for use with the "AutoTutor", the "highly sophisticated" and quite revolutionary teaching machine that the company unveiled a year ago.

The books may be used to advantage, however, with or without the machines.

The TutorText idea was invented by Norman A. Crowder, technical director of the division's training systems department, and are prepared and written by Mr. Crowder and a staff of 25 experts for publication by Doubleday & Co. This new automated teaching is called "scrambled" because the pages are not read in the usual order.

At the bottom of each lesson page is a multiple choice question covering the text contained on that page. The student selects his answer, turns to another page for the verdict.

If he's right, he's directed to the next lesson. If he's wrong, his error is explained in detail and he is sent back to the lesson page to study it again. By this means, the reader gains a thorough understanding of the first lesson before he can go on to the second. This method also appears to make learning more exciting and fascinating than it ever was before.

And with TutorTexts coupled to the AutoTutor, you've got something that is going to create unemployment - among

specifically to Liberia and Ghana, and was personally acquainted with a number of African leaders.

Meanwhile came word from the State Department of a rash of new ambassadors that must be appointed and sent to the Dark Continent. The first of them, career foreign service officer Thomas K. Wright, will be dispatched promptly to Bamako, capital of the Republic of Mali, where he will occupy ambassadorial quarters for which the US outbid Red China. Within six months, seven more US ambassadors will have followed Mr. Wright into Africa, and presumably another dozen or so will be needed, together with attaches from the armed forces, to implement our representation to the new nations.

It had been the US hope and expectation that one ambassador might be able to cover several nations, but the Africans, impressed by their new stature, would

The Home an Income Producer

(This is one in a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

If you rent all or part of your home, the income you receive is taxable. However, the government is only interested in taxing the amount you gain over and above your expenses. You can save valuable tax dollars by being aware of the expenses you can deduct from the rent you receive.

Assume that you own an eight room house. Since you only need six rooms, you decide to rent the other two rooms as a furnished apartment. You will now have two kinds of deductible expenses, those expenses that apply to the house as a unit, and those expenses that apply particularly to the apartment.

As a home owner, you can deduct any property taxes you may have to pay. You can also deduct the interest on a mortgage. This is true whether you rent part of the house or not, but there are some additional deductions you can take from the rent you receive for the two rooms. You can deduct such items as insurance, repairs, collection fees, depreciation, and brokerage commissions. But remember, these deductible expenses must apply directly to the two rooms you are renting. In other words, if you make repairs to the whole house you can only deduct from rent income the cost of repairs applicable to the two rooms being rented.

If you supply any utilities such as gas or electricity to your tenant without making a separate charge, you can deduct a portion of the amount you pay for these utilities from the rent you receive.

Income from renting all or part of your home should be reported in Schedule G of Form 1040. However, if you perform any substantial services for your tenant, then the rent becomes business income and should be reported on Schedule C. For example, you may be supplying hotel-type services such as breakfast, laundry or cleaning. If such is the case, then you are actually receiving payment for the use of both your property and your services. In effect, you are in the hotel business and must report your income as "business income."

Home as a Business Office

If you can show that it is necessary for you to work at home as a part of earning your income from a business, profession, or job, you may be able to deduct a portion of your household expenses as business expenses.

It may be that you use a room as an office. You have equipped it with a desk, a couple of chairs or other materials for performing your work. You can deduct a portion of the following expenses as legitimate business expenditures: depreciation of your home, heat, light, insurance and so on. You can also deduct any portion of your telephone bill applicable to your business affairs.

If you happen to be renting your home from someone else, you cannot deduct an amount for the depreciation of a portion of the house, but you can claim a share of the rent you pay as a deduction.

Some of the expenses for your home office are fully deductible. These are expenses that relate exclusively to your business, such as supplies, postage, depreciation of your office furniture, and so on.

Whether you are renting your home or using part of it as an office, remember to keep records of as many of your expenses as possible. Although you are entitled to deduct the expenses discussed in this article, the Internal Revenue Service may ask for an explanation of some of the items you deduct. It pays to have whatever information you can gather to support the expenses you claim.

You can get additional information on deductible expenses from the free instruction booklet issued each year by the Internal Revenue Service. A copy will be sent to you together with your income tax forms.

Covering The UN

Marooned in a hotel room in the Hotel Ghion in Addis Ababa by street fighting in that capital during the short-lived rebellion against the rule of Emperor Haile Selassie last week, Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, United States delegate to the United Nations, displayed characteristic calm, according to reports reaching headquarters in New York.

Until loyal troops quelled the insurrection, she sat quietly on the floor of her room, out of range of possible bullets through the window, writing Christmas cards and wrapping gifts. Mrs. Lord was in Ethiopia to attend a seminar sponsored by the United Nations, on the participation of women in public life.

Twenty women comprising the United Nations Volunteers began this month their thirteenth year of service to Secretariat and delegation members, with a record of 7,500 hours of duty in the preceding twelve months.

The only two on the U.N. payroll are Miss Margaret Parsons, executive secretary, and her secretary, Ann Paruta.

The majority are housewives, a number of them with business experience in their backgrounds, and a business-like attitude toward their respective posts.

Africa as "a roving assignment" and that he would be in Africa before Inauguration. And this suggests that if the job is as important as the President-elect has said it is, and as Soapy has modestly admitted it to be, perhaps his permanent headquarters should be in Africa.

It is doubtful he would be greatly missed at home.

Arlington now enjoys double telegraphic facilities, the new lines having been run into the Post Office and Mr. Fowle will have charge of the business.

The Indians who have been giving entertainments and selling so-called medicine in Town Hall for a month, have gone to Somerville.

Mr. Charles Goodwin who has served on the School Committee since 1872, during nearly all of which time he has filled the responsible and often arduous position of clerk, has resigned from the same and retired from the board.

The town is sadly deficient in pavings for the sidewalks, and during the warm weather of the past week, the thaw has made the travelling decidedly disagreeable.

As yet the new automobile combination chemical and hose wagon has not been purchased by the committee appointed at the last town meeting, with full power to buy such and to have hoses equipped so as to accommodate the new engine. Many are of the opinion that it would greatly add to the efficiency of the department if three horses were put on the truck instead of two, as at present.

When you have decided to make any kind of a purchase, why not find out what inducement the Arlington stores can offer?

Driving conditions have been really good this December, but we always get a lot of accidents at this time of year, because right now everyone is running his car for all it is worth. Of course there are also plenty of cars on the road in the summer time but not in Arlington. Arlington people go somewhere else to have their accidents during the summer which is a great help to the local police, although not so good for Symmes Arlington Hospital.

Alien Address Program

WHAT IS IT?

The Immigration and Nationality Act requires that aliens in the United States on January 1, each year, shall report their address during the month of January. This is required even though the alien has not changed his address since the last report.

This law does not apply to aliens here in diplomatic status nor to those who are accredited to the United Nations.

The parent or legal guardian of alien children under 14 years of age must submit an address report for such alien.

A resident alien who is temporarily absent from the United States on January 1, must report his address within ten (10) days after his return.

WHAT DOES HE DO?

The alien may go to any United States Post Office or any Immigration and Naturalization Service Office and ask for the Address Report Card, Form I-53.

When the alien has filled in all the items he should sign the card and hand it to an employee in any Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Office. Do not mail the card. Do not fold or tear the card. The alien must hand in the Address Report Card during the month of January each year.

WHAT INFORMATION?

In addition to his address an alien reports the date and place of entry into the United States, date and place of birth, nationality and, most important, his alien registration number.

WHAT IS THE NUMBER?

An alien registration number is the number preceded by the letter "A" appearing on his alien registration receipt card. Alien registration receipt Forms I-94 or I-95 (in possession of aliens admitted temporarily in the United States) do not bear a number. Such an alien should write "NONIMMIGRANT" in the space provided on the report form for showing the alien registration number.

If the alien is a newly arrived immigrant who has not into speed highways where the unseeing autoists could easily snuff out the life of a child who overslid his side street. Nice work on the part of the Selectmen.

In 1960

One Year Ago This Week

yet received his alien registration receipt, he should write "NOT RECEIVED" in that space. If he has lost his receipt he should write "LOST" in the space and immediately apply for a new receipt at the nearest office of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service.

WHAT PENALTIES?

An alien required to report his address who willfully or inexcusably fails to report is liable to be taken into custody and deported. Furthermore, such alien may be fined or imprisoned before deportation.

TO U. S. CITIZENS -

If you are a citizen of the United States, this notice does not apply to you. However, you will be assisting your Government, and any of your friends or acquaintances who are not United States citizens, if you will remind them of their responsibilities concerning the Address Report.

HOME FROM EAST

Marine PFC Phillip W. Decarreau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Decarreau of Arlington, arrived home on Dec. 15 from Okinawa and the Far East.

Red and Gray Jottings

by Carl Allen Jr.

All the students returned to school Tuesday after their Christmas Vacation. Hope you enjoyed your vacation. All the teachers hope we made some New Year's resolutions about our homework.

While we were enjoying the festivities, our athletes were giving us much to be merry about. A five to nothing win over Newton High and a three to one win over Medford High gave the Red and Gray hockey team a two, and one-half game lead over second place

Waltham.

Last Wednesday's 5-0 romp over Somerville gave the Burnsmen a chance to increase their individual scoring totals. Shaun Quinlan received four points for two goals; Paul Donnelly four points for a goal and two assists; Morgan three points for a goal and an assist; Shannon, two points for a goal; and Davieau and Kierstead each received a point for an assist. Each goal is worth two points and an assist is worth one point.

In Saturday's 3-1 win over Medford High, Arlington's center Lax scored the first goal only to have Medford's John Downs tie the game at 7:40 of the first period. John Shannon broke the tie at 6:42 of the second period and Paul Donnelly put the game on ice at 2:56 of the third period. Our basketball team ended its winning streak of four games by losing to Brookline 68-56, but bounced back to overwhelm Cambridge two days later.

Leading Arlington's scoring in the Brookline game were Ostrander 17 points, Scully 11 and Morrison 11.

In the Cambridge game Morrison scored 19, Scully 15, and Govoni 14.

The girls basketball team opens its season at home tomorrow against Melrose.

LIVING with your HEART

A COMMUNITY SERVICE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS HEART ASSOCIATION

("Living With Your Heart" is written and distributed weekly as a community service by the Mass. Heart Assoc.)

To a cardiac mother, a baby can be something like a yacht; it isn't the initial investment, in terms of energy, as much as the maintenance that proves difficult to handle. Doctors agree that most mothers with heart trouble, given adequate medical care, can bear children safely.

But raising them is often a taxing chore. Many women who had no trouble with their hearts during pregnancy and delivery discover that the long hours and hard work of bringing up a new baby combine to produce constant fatigue.

In pregnancy, the mother-to-be usually has plenty of help around the house from her husband. After the baby is born, however, it is easy for fathers to forget that the event has signalled the start of a generation's care.

The Massachusetts Heart Association has this word of warning for cardiac mothers: follow your doctor's advice about your level of activity — motherhood's tasks continue for many years.

The Association conducts "Heart of the Home" classes, not only for cardiac women but for any housewife wishing to simplify her household tasks. Many things can be done to lighten the homemaker's burden and still maintain an efficient level of housekeeping.

Here, for instance, are some pointers for the new cardiac mother:

1. Sit down and plan your work before you start doing it.
2. Approach each job with the idea of doing first things first, and what isn't done today can wait until tomorrow.
3. Organize your work into daily, weekly and occasional categories, and let other members of the family help.

In fact, see that they do.

4. Plan your menus, list the baby's needs, and shop only once a week.

5. Use part-time maid service and a diaper service if possible.

6. Keep the baby downstairs in the daytime and keep his clothing handy. Avoid needless steps.

7. Use clothing that needs little or no ironing.

8. Bathe the baby in the sink or bathinette — it saves your back.

9. When the baby naps, take one yourself.

10. Be sure to rest regularly and stop at the first sign of fatigue.

Covering The UN

YULE GREETINGS — Holiday carols rang out in the great lobby of the United Nations as the U.N. singers gave their annual Christmas concert. Singers as well as songs, were international; a maintenance man with a big bass voice came from Sweden, a Chinese girl from Document Control was singing soprano.

National costumes were worn by many of the singers, making the 35-member choral group a pleasure for eye as well as ear. Since the Moslem and Buddhist Secretariat members do not drink liquor, however, huge quantities of fruit juices were on tap at these festivities.

SPACE IN GREECE

The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe, with headquarters in Geneva, has computed in its annual bulletin of housing and buildings statistics in Greece, the pro-rata occupancy per room for dwellings of varying sizes, in that region. In homes having three rooms or more, the figures show, rural areas in Greece are the most crowded with 34.8 persons to each available room. Urban areas, with 26.4, are less congested.

Yugoslavia's urban districts are also pinched for space, with a rate of 19.7 persons per room, and Denmark's the least occupied, with 0.1 person per room. Listings were made without reference to the size of the rooms.

Information included on United States housing indicates that in rural areas the ratio of occupancy is 9.2 persons per room, and in urban districts, 4.7 per room.

TO SPAN ASIA

The new Trans-Asian highway in prospect will permit travellers, traders and tourists to motor overland from one end of the vast Asian expanse to the other. From Singapore to Istanbul, from Saigon to Ankara, this international network of roads will touch all major capitals, stimulating economic development, as well as social and cultural contacts.

Three groups of highway experts are meeting this month in the capital cities of Bangkok, Kathmandu and Tehran to discuss problems and progress of the program which will link all Asia, including the island countries of Indonesia and Ceylon. As its Turkish terminus, the highway will eventually hook up with European road systems.

With the help of the UN Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East, Asian nations are giving priority to construction of the international highway. Financial assistance will be needed bilaterally from developed countries, and multilaterally from the UN Special Fund, Technical Assistance Board, the Colombo plan and other international programs.

REDUCES MALARIA

Afghanistan's progress against malaria has brought impressive results, the Deputy Minister of Public Health, Dr. Abdul Rahmin, reported in a public address in September. Six years ago when the anti-malaria campaign began 3,500,000 Afghans were afflicted, Dr. Rahmin recalled, and vast areas were out of cultivation due to infestation by malarial mosquitoes.

Laghman and Pul-i-khumri, the two districts which have suffered most, no longer need spraying with DDT, he noted, and of 7,300 slides recently examined for indications of the disease, only 131 were positive.

Behind the Business Scene

by REYNOLDS KNIGHT

NEW YORK — Approximately one third of the nation's production plant and equipment is "obsolete," and the future holds little prospect of improving unless the present depreciation-tax system is liberalized, a Fordham University study finds.

Under the present tax system, it adds, we can expect an additional $60 billion worth of plant and equipment to become obsolete by 1970.

At the present time, it is estimated, $96 billion is required for modernization.

This, plus the estimated 10-year need, indicates strongly the serious need for capital to replace obsolete equipment. Capital also will be needed for tools for an additional 13,500,000 workers expected to be on the country's payrolls by 1970.

American business, meantime, is being induced to spend an increasing portion of its budget abroad, a trend stimulated partially through liberalized depreciation allowances in some foreign countries.

THINGS TO COME — Latest thing for amateur painters is a wipe-on satin stain and finish kit for finishing unpainted furniture. The kit offers 30 shades and is said to be easy to apply. And for draftsmen and artists there is now available a drawing board with a resilient yet firm surface that "heals" itself of compass holes and other impressions. It comes in pastel green to assure a more restful eye surface.

THRIFT TREND — Americans apparently are putting a bigger portion of their earnings into savings, the U.S. Savings and Loan League reports. Savings in savings and loan associations rose by 600 million in November to a total of 60,755 billion, a 23 per cent increase over the gain recorded for the same period a year ago.

BIT 'O' BUSINESS — Retail sales of $18.6 billion in November topped those for the same month last year by $800 million. Durable goods sales dropped from the previous month, while non-durable goods volume increased. Recent cold weather, which forced many farmers to remove livestock from pastures and use commercial feeds, has boosted the price of soybean meal, in some instances, from $43 a ton last month to $52 at present. One New York jeweler reported during the pre-Christmas rush that he had received three offers for 14 carat gold, diamond-studded percolators at a cost of $50,000 each.

Touchdown Speaker

MENTHOL A-MOVING — The swiftly rising popularity of menthol cigarettes with the American public is currently a dominant factor in the growth of the cigarette market, a major tobacco company points out.

Joseph G. Crume, vice president of Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corporation, noted that the increase in menthol cigarette sales in the first eight months of 1960 was equal to more than half of the increase for all types of cigarettes combined — 7.5 billion units for menthol brands as against a 14.3-billion rise for all brands.

Dr. Tennyson Guyer, commonly known as "Ohio's Ambassador of Good Will" will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Arlington Touchdown club at the Fantasia Restaurant, Cambridge, January 12, starting at 7 p.m.

A speaker at the Touchdown Club several times in recent years, Dr. Tennyson has been called the "Prince of Platformers," "Master of Mirth" and "America's Premier Inspirational Speaker." He has been asked to speak at the Arlington affair by William Sinclair of Monadnock rd.

Born in Findlay, Ohio, he grew up in a community well known for its famous residents — Zane Grey, Marilyn Miller, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale — to name a few.

Always interested in people, he can be remembered back in Findlay as mascot of the athletic teams at Findlay College, where his late father served as president.

"Along the way he found variety and adventure by working as caddie, bell-hop counter man, circus performer, youth supervisor, social worker, mayor, radio artist, writer, traveler, and minister. Graduating from Findlay high school and Findlay college, he now holds five honorary doctor's degrees."

The International Platform Ass'n named him the best inspirational speaker in America a year ago.

He was elected to the Ohio Senate without opposition, so now divides his time between the legislature in Columbus and the Cooper Tire and Rubber Co. in Findlay, where he serves as director of public relations.

U.S. Salutes Banks

The U.S. Treasury recently paid tribute to the bankers of America for their 20 years of volunteer service to the United States Savings Bonds program.

Since May 1941, the nation's banks have been the principal issuing agents for more than two billion Series E Savings Bonds bought by millions of citizens, many of whom saved their first money through bonds.

In the salute to the banking profession, the Treasury statement said:

"America's banks have sold nearly two billion separate Savings Bonds since 1941, at no cost to the Government or the purchasers. The Bond program and the Banking business have grown together. Hand in hand, they've helped make Americans the savingest people in the world."

In responding to the salute, Carl A. Binson, president of the Valley National Bank of Phoenix, Arizona, and president of the American Bankers Association said:

"America's banks are proud to be part of the Bond program. We believe it is good for America, an economic stabilizer; it is good for the individual, the community, and it is good for banking."

The promotion of Savings Bonds has helped to make savers out of non-savers, to revitalize the American tradition of thrift, and to build

Colonial "Excellent"

Colonial Motors of 745 Massachusetts ave., the official AAA Service Station in this area, has been rated "excellent" after a recent survey by Walter Johnson, assistant emergency road service manager of the American Automobile Association's Massachusetts Division.

The AAA manager inspected the garage's equipment and personnel. He praised the service station for maintaining a comprehensive day and night service program. This service station is one of the more than 19,000 AAA contract garages which handle emergency road service calls for disabled motorists.

TO DRAW CODE

A committee of the Massachusetts Newspaper Information service is now conferring with a committee representing the Massachusetts and Boston Bar Associations to improve mutual understanding between the two professions.

It is proposed to draw up a code for informal guidance of the two groups in their relations.

If you have any ideas that you would like to see included in such a code, please mail them to Charles E. Gallagher, Managing Editor, Daily Evening Item, Lynn, Mass.

savings in all forms to record levels."

U. S. Bond Bonus To Buyers

George Romney, president of American Motors, last week announced a Rambler program to share further sales progress with all customers. A "give-back" of $2 to $18 millions in U.S. government bond to new car, Rambler buyers is seen.

Presenting the program at a press conference at the Sheraton-East Hotel, Romney said "progress sharing with all customers is a proved and dynamic American economic principle. We need to put it back to work to further economic growth and stimulate employment."

"Our country is currently experiencing a mild economic slow-down, rising foreign competition, excessive American industrial expansion abroad, concern over strength of the dollar, loss of foreign markets and rising unemployment," he asserted.

"We believe the greatest single economic cause of these trends is failure to adequately share economic progress with all customers. Relatively too much of the fruit of industrial effort has been going to a few well-organized economic groups. This is placing America in a shocking position," Romney said.

"We decided to do something about it and not just sit around and wait for government or somebody else to do something. We decided to do what we could to focus the nation's attention on this neglect of progress sharing with all consumers."

Against this background, he gave details of a volume bonus plan for U.S. Rambler buyers that could total $18,698,062 or more over a four-month period.

Romney said the company during December, January, February and March will give Rambler buyers U.S. government bonds on a scale proportionate to cumulative Rambler sales increases over a year ago.

"To new Rambler owners taking delivery during the period, we will automatically send bonds ranging from $25 to $125 maturity value as our cumulative monthly sales rise over a year ago at specific levels ranging from 10 per cent to 50 per cent," Romney said.

"Payments will be made at the end of each month in which a 10 per cent or more cumulative gain is made. If we show the minimum gain, we will pay out bonds costing us $2,759,888 for the period. On the basis of a 50 per cent gain, we would pay $18,698,062."

Romney said the basic objective of the plan is to "give a further lift to rising Rambler sales volume by sharing nearly all of the economies of the gain with the customer."

"Our approach is simple: Rambler has moved from nowhere to a position immediately behind Chevrolet and Ford. This was achieved by emphasis on consumer benefit. The record has made us certain that if enough consumers like what we do as a company, their response and our momentum will carry us to top volume leadership in the automobile industry."

Romney pointed out that Rambler sales have set new monthly records for 38 consecutive months.

"The time is ripe for this kind of move by a company able to do it. For too many years, the customer has been heavily ignored in the division of the benefits of industrial progress. Government has taken more and more, unions have demanded more and more, corporate profits have declined but have been good."

"But too much by-passing of some consumers has retarded economic growth and employment."

"To keep increasing the pace that has made our Kenosha plant the largest single producer in the automobile industry, we are willing to forego short-range extra profit in the interest of building for the future," he said.

"We are priced competitively today. Still higher volume for us would effect economies which we are going to share with all Rambler buyers."

Dear friends,

There is a natural tendency on the part of a bereaved family to express high tribute to the deceased. To urge an expensive selection, beyond the family's ability to pay, is certainly not a reputable practice.

We feel that the family should be permitted to make its own selection, guided by such information and suggestion as the funeral director may be able to offer. We avoid any possibility of "over-selling".

Deedee Wood, who has recently topped her professional dancing career with her debut as a choreographer, is the daughter of an Arlington family. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wood, live at 43 Rockmond rd. here.

Five years ago a television columnist predicted that "that beautiful blond dancer on the Sid Caesar's show" would reach stardom.

Today Deedee Wood has achieved not only this but also her ambition to become a Broadway musical choreographer.

Arlington theatre-goers attending the pre-Broadway run of the Phil Silvers musical "Do-Re-Mi" in Boston recently probably were not aware that one of the directors of the dancing was the daughter of an Arlington family.

Miss Wood and her husband Marc Breaux did the choreography for this fast-paced musical.

This marked their debut as full-fledged choreographers for a Broadway musical, although neither one is a newcomer to Broadway.

Miss Wood assisted Michael Kidd who directed the dancing for the stage version of "Li'l Abner" and later she went to Hollywood to direct the dancing for the film version herself.

She and her husband danced in "Destry Rides Again", another musical in which Michael Kidd was choreographer.

Before entering the world of the musical show, Miss Wood did extensive television work. She assisted Michael Kidd on the Buick and Motocycle Summer Comedy Hour, and was a featured dancer on the Sid Caesar show.

Deedee (whose real name is Audrey) considered dancing on television a real challenge.

In an interview appearing in the Boston Post a few years ago, she told the reporter that "due to the fact that you have to learn a new dance every week, the work is hard but it is the greatest training in the world for a dancer."

While a student in high school in Westport, Conn., Deedee took her first ballet lessons.

Following her very rapid progress, she received a scholarship for Ted Shawn's school at Jacob's Pillow in the Berkshires.

She later studied at the School of American Ballet and with Katherine Dunham's Experimental Dance Group in New York.

Her first job was with the road company of "Guys and Dolls", and after traveling around the country finally finished up as one of the dancing girls in the New York company.

This was followed by a year and a half as a dancer in "Can-Can" in New York.

Marc Breaux, Deedee's husband, came to the world of dancing by way of chemistry.

He is a native of Louisiana and came to New York to work in a lab but left this in favor of dancing.

He has been in several Broadway musicals and has done considerable work on television.

He has done the choreography for "Coketime", "Shubert Alley", and the recent Phil Silvers special "Molly and Me."
